No flag but the Old Flag—the Red, White and Blue,
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true!
Arise and defend it! ye sons of the brave,
Whose blood bought the country our valor must save.

TUESDAY MORNING, JULY 12, 1864.

NATIONAL UNION NOMINATIONS.

For President,
ABRAHAM LINCOLN,
Of Illinois.

For Vice-President,
ANDREW JOHNSON,
Of Tennessee.

For Presidential Electors,
GEORGE L. WOODS, of Wasco County,
H. N. GEORGE, of Linn County,
J. F. GAZLEY, of Douglas County.

WHO FIRST URGED THE DRAFT.—The copperheads raised a hue and cry at the draft ordered by President Lincoln, on the ground that it was an Abolition war and that thereby conscientious peace men, and those who had none other than friendly relations with the South were obliged to go if drafted or pay the commutation fee. The removal of McClellan was objected to strongly, by the opponents of the draft—the same men who would now like to support him for the Presidency. His Southern friends in the North charged Mr. Lincoln with political preference in removing Little Mac, and with a desire to force Democrats into the army. In Raymond's history of the present Administration, just published in New York, the correspondence below appears. It was written to the President of the United States about a month after the battle of Bull Run, and at a time when citizens were rushing to arms all over the country, and when volunteers were pouring into Washington from every State. Here is the letter:

> "SIR: I have just received the enclosed dispatch in cipher. Colonel Marcy knows what he says, and is of the coolest judgment. I recommend that the Secretary of War ascertain at once by telegram how the enrolment proceeds in New York and elsewhere, and that if it is not proceeded with great rapidity, drafts be made at once. We must have men without delay.
> Very respectfully,
> Your ob't serv't,
> GEO. B. McCLELLAN,
> Major-General United States Army."

The following is the dispatch of Colonel Marcy alluded:

DISPATCH FROM COLONEL R. B. MARCY TO GENERAL GEORGE B. McCLELLAN.

> "NEW YORK, Aug. 20, 1861.
> "I urge upon you to make a positive and unconditional demand for an immediate draft of the additional troops you require. Men will not volunteer now, and drafting is the only successful plan. The people will applaud such a course, rely upon it. I will be in Washington to-morrow.
> R. B. MARCY.

We do not find these dispatches in the report of General McClellan. They were doubtless omitted through some inadvertence!

THE "KEARSAGE."—Considerable curiosity has been manifested by many of our readers to learn something of the Federal vessel which has won such fame by her successful encounter with the Anglo-Rebel pirate Alabama. She is a third-rate screw gunboat, of 1,031 tons measurement. She was built at Portsmouth (N. H.,) Navy Yard, and is 208 feet long between perpendiculars—but over all 235 feet long—with 28 feet beam. She carries two 11-inch guns, mounted on circular railways; one 24-pound rifle gun, and five 32 broadside guns. Her officers are—Captain, John A. Winslow; Lieutenant-Commander, James S. Thornton; Surgeon, John M. Brown; Paymaster, Jos. A. Smith; Engineers—Chief, W. M. H. Cushman; 2d Assistant, W. H. Badlam; three head assistants—F. L. Muller, Sidney L. Smith, and Henry McConnell; Boatswain, James C. Walton; Acting-Gunners, Franklin, A. Graham.

LINCOLN CLUBS.—Nearly every city and town of any importance in California, and to a great extent throughout the Eastern States, has its Club, where the friends of Lincoln and Johnson meet to exchange sentiments, and prepare to overcome the chicanery of copperheads, who, under the title of K. G. C.'s or "American Knights," have their secret organizations and midnight meetings in every place where a sufficient number of their clan can be collected. Perhaps never, in the history of our Republic, has an organization of equal magnitude been banded and armed in secret, for the purpose of stabbing loyalty to the heart, and it is high time that in the interior of our State, where sparse settlements and a busy season prevent frequent gatherings of the loyal people, preliminary steps should be taken for the speedy formation of loyal Lincoln clubs, the dissemination of useful political facts, and the perfecting of all necessary arrangements to ensure success in the approaching most important campaign.

PASSING AWAY.—Very rapidly, indeed, are the leaders of the secession movement passing away. The first on the list was O. Jennings Wise, then Floyd, then Yancey, and lastly, Lawrence M. Keitt, who was Colonel of a South Carolina regiment, and killed at the battle of the Chickahominy on the 3d of June. During the Kansas-Nebraska struggle, Keitt was the leader of the pro slavery party in the House, and he was second to Brooks in his outrage upon Senator Sumner. Keitt was a bold, fearless, frank traitor, willing to give his blood for his infernal cause, and he gave it. Before the rebels succeed in shaking off the military bull-dog who now holds Lee and Richmond by the throat, a good many more like Keitt and Wise will pay the penalty of their crime against this nation and mankind.

> EDITOR OREGONIAN: OREGON, July 9, 1864.
> In your remarks yesterday morning upon the very honest neutrality of our English cousins, you intimated that the farce of our yielding to them our extensive mercantile marine carrying trade, thinking them neutrals, and therefore safer carriers, was about played out.
> While reading the remarks, and thinking of the efforts making now-a-days in the Atlantic States to restrain our immense consumption of foreign productions, I thought to myself "under these circumstances is it best just now to have Portland made a port of entry, while the only effect such a condition of things could produce would be to give employment to a few British vessels instead of American in bringing foreign productions into Oregon." How is that Mr. Editor?
> Will you explain why we should pay British vessels $8 per ton, instead of American $10 per ton, and why we should pay our British cousins at Victoria $7 per pair for blankets rather than the Salem and other manufacturing establishments in Oregon $8 per pair, and so of other goods—I mean during the war and while the Britishers are so honest in their neutrality? CONSISTENCY.

We will respond with much pleasure to the interrogations of "consistency," but in so doing are compelled to deny his premises. The effect of making Portland a port of entry will by no means advantage any foreign ships so much as it will our own, and especially our regular traders. Our correspondent will concede that every coasting vessel receiving a cargo for the Oregon trade, receives it for delivery in Portland, and not at Astoria. The reason is obvious. Portland is the commercial mart of the State. It is the head of ocean navigation; its capital, its business, its merchants are here. From Portland diverge the several avenues of trade and travel which branch and spread to the remote extremes of the State. The whole mining region of the north and east, the vast agricultural districts bordering the Willamette, which floats their produce to our very doors, find Portland the natural depot for their supplies, and the market for their crops. The unerring hand of nature has made Portland what she is, and sagacious men of means have enabled her to dispense by boat and stage, the aggregations of trafic and labor. If she had, as she should most assuredly have, the Custom House, our coasters, instead of being compelled to lose much time at Astoria to enter and clear, could take advantage of favorable winds and tides, passing in and out of the river uninterruptedly thus saving in the course of the year, a considerable sum now uselessly wasted. The vessel at present engaged in trade between Portland and Victoria is an American, built on the shores of Puget Sound. The steamer that lately came hither with an English cargo is also an American, and was built at Port Ludlow. We have reason to believe that American vessels can compete with English in this trade, and that none other will be used, from the fact that two are now almost ready to slide from the ways on Puget Sound, destined for the service between Columbia river and Victoria, while we have yet to learn of the first British bottom offering. The demand for foreign fabrics will not be increased by an act making our city a port of entry, nor do we believe that foreign competition with domestic industry will be one whit stronger then than

MAX. AND JEFF.—The Atlantic Confederacy has a letter from "a distinguished citizen of the South" now in Europe, who exults over great changes of opinion in the Old World to the side of the Confederate man-thieves, and concludes:

> "I hope the Archduke Maximilian will go to Mexico, as now believed, in March. I am sanguine that good will flow from it. I am quite sure, and I doubt not you will agree with me, that he, at least, thoroughly understands the bearing of the American question, and that his powerful influence will be properly employed in promoting the cause whose success alone can secure to him the Mexican throne. You and I, and all Americans know that if the Confederacy succumbs, the Mexican Empire cannot stand six months. Under such circumstances the United States would never permit the establishment of any stable government, whether monarchal or republican."

This is the way they all talk in Europe while their allies and oracles here revile and execrate our Government as truckling to Louis Napoleon and betraying Mexico into the hands of his imperial puppet. But this "distinguished" Southron writes that it is notorious that "if the Confederacy succumbs, the Mexican Empire cannot stand six months." Just and true, O traitor! and that is why every loyal man insists on letting Mexico and her affairs severely alone, while we strain every muscle to put down the slaveholder's rebellion, whereupon (as this rebel truly says) "the Mexican Empire cannot stand six months." The road to Mexican independence and liberty lies right through (or over) Richmond.—N. Y. Tribune.

LIBERTY OF SPEECH.—The Carson Independent truly says that the liberty of speech does not belong to the rebel advocates more than to any other advocates of criminal purposes. "To this complexion, we must come at last," or else the very foundations of civil liberty by the honied silence which treason is ever striving to cast beneath our feet. In revolutionary times, extreme measures are necessary, and we go for them upon the rule of necessity, in order to save the Republic from ruin.

ACCIDENT.—A son of Jacob Conser, of Marion County, was thrown from a wagon last Wednesday, and severely cut about the head and face. The Albany Journal says the boy's injuries are not of a dangerous character.

The Nevada Constitutional Convention met at Carson City on July 4th. Not more than half of the members were in attendance, and it was adjourned to celebrate the day. It will probably remain in session two or three weeks.

SANITARY FUND.—The donations to this fund made at Eugene City on the Fourth was: Currency, $256 50; coin, $200 35; making a total of $456 85.

LINN COUNTY TREASURER.—Judge Boise, in the contested election case, has decided in favor of Mr. Nixon, for Treasurer, against Riggs.

Three of the Alabama's officers and six of her crew were landed at Cherbourg from a French pilot boat; also several from the British ship Acton.

Among the persons brought away from Fredericksburg on the evacuation of the place was a rebel citizen arrested for poisoning bread and offering it to our wounded soldiers.

Several more stage robberies have occurred recently, and Wells, Fargo & Co. have made a requisition on Gen. McDowell for military protection of the express over the Washoe line, and soldiers have been sent to Lake Bigler for that purpose. The Provost Marshal has information tending strongly to the suspicion that an organized gang of two or three hundred highwaymen exists in the Southern counties, and that an arrest was made at San Jose of a party suspected of being cognizant of their plans.

JACKSONVILLE, July 11.—Captain Kelley arrived to-day from Fort Klamath, having been ordered by Col. Drew to Portland on recruiting service.

From the Snake Indian Expedition.

CAMP MAURY, OREGON, July 6, 1864.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

The express from Capt. Drake's command arrived at this camp last night at 11 o'clock. We have news from the command to the 2d inst. On their way out they discovered what they supposed to be a camp of Indians and charged upon it with all their available force and captured one squaw and three horses; one of the captured horses was stolen from this camp on the evening of the fight of the 18th of May. The squaw seemed very much enraged with her captors and said, "if it took one hundred men to capture one squaw, she did not know what they would do if old Paulina found them." She also said, that all the Indians were in the direction of the south fork of John Day's river.

Dr. Brande's prospecting party had just joined them. They have been as far south as Goose Lake, where they were attacked by a party of hostile Indians and the doctor and one of his men were severely wounded, though they were doing well and able to walk around. They report meeting a large party of emigrants bound for the Boise country. The consolidated command is on the march northward, and will be at this camp by the 20th inst., if not sooner.

We have nothing to disturb our peace and quietude at this camp, save wrangling of the men by day and the howling of the coyotes by night. The 4th of July passed off with unusual quiet. We all regretted that we were deprived of the privilege of joining with you in celebrating a day so sacred to every loyal American. VOLUNTEER.

LATER FROM CHINA.—By the arrival of the clipper ship Georgius, Capt. Williams, 39 days from Shanghae at Victoria, the Chronicle has news to the 17th May:

The Georgius was 22 days from the coast of Japan to Cape Flattery, and was detained off the cape four days by light head winds. While cruising there large numbers of right and sperm whale were seen. The ocean seemed "literally alive with them," to use the words of Capt. Williams. Some were fifty feet in length; and as they spouted and sported in the water, and surrounded the ship, they were frequently struck with sticks thrown from the deck.

Business was stagnant at Shanghae, but very good at Canton and Hong Kong. Lumber, at the former port, was going at $40 per thousand feet. Spars will shortly be in demand as piles for extensive new wharves which are shortly to be constructed there. Freights are dull and low.

A large quantity of cotton has been shipped for England from China, and next year it is expected that the amount shipped will be quadrupled, large rice fields having been turned into cotton plantations.

An important order has been received by Major Gordon, who commands the European troops in the field against the rebels, to the effect that he must Shanghae, as agreed upon by the terms of the treaty between Great Britain and the Imperial Government. The English Government, it appears, are disgusted with the conduct of the Imperialists when Gordon took the city of Soochow. They invited the principal men (or Hongs) to an entertainment, in the suburbs of the city, and after feasting them with all the good things of this life, at a given signal their retainers rushed into the apartment and beheaded the unhappy guests. Major Gordon, who was present, interfered to stay the butchery, when he was set upon by the Imperialists; and but for the exertions of his body-guard, he would have shared the fate of the Hongs. Another cause for the order is that the rebels own half of the tea district and all of the silk district. In driving the rebels back, the Imperialists naturally lay the country waste, and establish custom stations at every convenient post. These stations are held by the Imperial Mandarins, who demand a tax, or as they term it, "squeeze," on every lot of goods passing each station. The consequence is that when the goods reach Shanghae, having passed ten or a dozen stations, the taxes amount to more than the original cost, and trade is gradually being diverted from Shanghae to Canton and Hongkong, where only two or three taxes are paid. If the rebels were let alone, the taxes would be reduced on goods received at Shanghae.

Gordon, previous to the order to retire reaching him from the Home Government, advanced on another city north of Soochow, but was repulsed with great loss by the rebels. The Imperial Futai (or General) was mortally wounded during the engagement, and was brought to Shanghae, where he was still alive when the Georgius sailed. The battle is said to have been very severe. Gordon lost many of his best officers.

The Imperialists continue to besiege Nankin, the third city in point of size in China.

JAPAN.—Gen. Burgevine is at Yokohama doing nothing.

The Tycoon has not been heard from since he started into the interior to consult with the Daimios; but it is believed that he is peaceably inclined.

Business is improving, and, with a feeling of returning security, the foreigners have re-opened their stores, and the natives show a disposition to trade freely.

The relations between the Japanese and the foreigners never were more cordial than at last accounts.

We understand that on the night of the Fourth of July, after the celebration at Scio, the flag that had proudly floated in the breeze during the day was left on the flagstaff until after dark, when some patriotic(!) thief thinking that it would be wrong to let the day pass without exercising his ruling propensity, stole the "Abolition rag," and appropriated it to some nobler(!) purpose than floating from a staff emblematical of an "Abolition Government."—Albany Journal.

PROFITABLE CHEESE.—A cheese, donated by Mr. Delmater to the Sanitary Fund, was put up at auction on the Fourth and was sold and re-sold until it netted the Fund $91.—Oregon State Journal.

THE VIEW FROM MOUNT ROBINSON.—The bald elevation at the southern extremity of the city is the only place where the Portlander can get a look out upon the surrounding country. Although the adjacent mountain ranges present scenes of rugged sublimity, that far excel the much vaunted beauties of the towering Alps, and almost approach the Andes in height—yet, unless we undergo the fatigue of climbing up Mount Robinson, we are debarred the privilege of seeing all this by our lofty forest trees. We know that men who have gone as far as the Academy Hill will tell about seeing Mount Hood, Mount St. Helens, but we scout the idea, and insist that these peaks, as seen from that point, are not the same, as when observed from the top of Mount Robinson. We would not be understood to say that those stupendous monuments of the Almighty Architect of the Universe change locations by being looked upon from two different degrees of elevation, but we do most emphatically assert that they look entirely different. From the lesser elevation they are grand—but when you get to the highest you have a fair look at them, and they become really indescribable. Beside the advantage of seeing these great protuberances of the Cascade range, Mount Jefferson and Mount Rainier, the crest of Mount Adams and many minor peaks, are distinctly visible. Mt. Baker stands just out of the range of Mount St. Helens, a little to the westward, on the parallel of 49°. This peak rivals Mount Hood in height, and looms up immensely, even at the great distance it is from us. It seems to be rounder on the top but steeper. It almost looks like a part of St. Helens, but it is comparatively dim, yet with a good telescope its outlines are plainly distinguishable. In nearly all other mountain ranges, the peaks are only prominent from one point of view, but our Mount Hood is a solitary pyramid, rising over eighteen thousand feet above the level of the sea, and fourteen or fifteen thousand feet above all contiguous mounts—presenting in connection with its brother peaks; Mount Baker of nearly the same height, and the symmetrical Mount St. Helens, thirteen thousand and eight hundred feet above the level of the sea, a scene unparallelled in the world, unless by Chumalaree, in Northern India. These everlasting hills stand the sentinels of the coast; the fit emblems of the towering ambition of the nation that owns them. Foreign tourists may tell of the Pyrenees, the Balkans, the Hartz, and go crazy over Mount Blanc, if they like, but we can turn out half a dozen peaks that will excel them in height, and whose mantles are as white; all surrounded by forests to which the Black forest, or that of Ardennes are but trifling. And beside, and among them, runs the Columbia and the Willamette, which as far excel the European rivers as our Mount Hood does Mount Blanc. We have the scenery, the climate, the soil, and we must in time too, have the poets. We have enjoyed the view, and we hope to hear of more than have heretofore "quit the maddening crowd's ignoble strife," to go up on Mount Robinson and look about them.

ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE OF THE STEAMSHIP JOHN L. STEPHENS—The steamship John L. Stephens, Francis Connor, Commander, sailed from San Francisco, July 7th, at 2 o'clock P. M. Crossed Columbia river bar on the 10th, at 3 P. M., arrived at Portland July 11th, 4 o'clock A. M. She brings 400 tons of freight, and the following passengers:

Harry Olmstead, wife and dau, Lieut J E Yard, Captain Hilray, Collector Adams, Geo Thatcher, W Bath, Miss B Alexander, Miss Mary Gore, S Mulligan, J Christ, R Peck, W J Thatcher, Mrs Marks, Boisant, W T Bassett, Mrs C Baker, Mrs Griffin, Mr Murray and wife, Wm Painter and wife, Milton Elliott, D Wilson, Miss O Elliott, Mrs J Powers, Miss Franzette Webb, Mrs Brackett, Alex Dodge Jr, Dr. Egbert wife and servt, Miss Gossler, Miss Gomez, H Rosenfield, Rev. Mr. Uylio, D Uylio, Mrs Peudel, Miss Eberding, Richd Eberding, Mrs Grover, Mrs Carr and 3 ch, Mrs Wilson & boy, M Franklin, Wm T Aymar, Mr Smith, Durand, 12 Sisters of Charity, J G Russell, Wells Fargo & Co.'s Messenger, Frank Bussard, and 80 others.

The cargo was discharged yesterday, and she put back this morning at 6 o'clock A. M., via Victoria. The report of her treasure and freight will appear to-morrow.

THE CITY HALL.—An informal meeting of the County Commissioners and Common Council Committee, was held at the Court House yesterday, for conference upon the subject of combining a City Hall with the new building of the Court House. The Commissioners seem to favor the project, and in the case of a definite understanding, we expect a plan to make the north wing distinct and separate for city purposes, will be settled upon. The building proposed will be about three years in the course of construction, and will be a monument of fineness for twenty-five years to come unless we should outgrow the present rate of our progress. The foundation can be laid the present season, next year the building can be erected and enclosed, and in 1866 finished and occupied.

SHOULD HAVE BEEN REMOVED.—A team of horses were left by their driver to feed out of the wagon they had drawn into the city yesterday, and the heels of one of them was so near the cross-walk, where they were standing, that a lady's dress would have brushed them, had one dared to pass. We are in favor of having enormous penalties imposed on men who are so grossly careless as to leave their teams where they are liable to endanger the lives of any who may pass. It is an outrage that it is not prevented. A few examples would have a beneficial effect, no doubt.

QUARTZ MILLS.—The Oregon Iron Works, in this city, finished and delivered another quartz mill on Saturday last, for shipment to the upper country. The one just completed was upon an order from Col. Gates, of the Dalles, and goes to South Boise. One other also came up from San Francisco, on the John L. Stephens, intended for the same locality. This is to be attached to a steam engine already there, of 15-horse power, now used in sawing lumber by Mr. Cortes, at Clifden.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.—Edward Tichnor was sentenced in the United States District Court yesterday, in accordance with the verdict of a jury, in which he was found guilty of cutting timber from government land,—to pay $18,750 and stand imprisoned one day. The terms of the law are carried out in this sentence. In the case against the schooner Jenny Jones a verdict for $900 was brought in favor of the prosecution.

ACCIDENTALLY SUBMERGED.—The steamer Rival yesterday discharged two hundred and forty-one sacks of wheat at the Brooklyn wharf, to be milled at Brooklyn, for E. Beebe & Co., of this city, a great portion of which was accidentally submerged, by the falling of the wharf drop, just as the steamer was about to leave. Capt. Kerns, owner of the wharf, and the mate of the Rival, each received a voluntary ducking. The wheat will be saved without material damage.

FREIGHT IN WAGONS.—The water in the Willamette river has become so low that all the steamboats above the Falls, have been compelled to tie up. As a consequence those who failed to get their supply of goods by steamers, avail themselves of the slow process of freighting in wagons. We observed some twenty teams leave the city yesterday evening, loaded for Eugene, Corvallis and other points up the Valley.

PRINTING OFFICE FOR ASTORIA.—The press and fixtures of the late Daily Union, in this city, were shipped to Astoria yesterday morning on the steamer John H. Couch, where we understand it will be used in the publication of a Weekly, under the supervision of J. N. Gale, Esq.

THROUGH TELEGRAPH.—Last evening Portland communicated with San Francisco, direct, and it is the first instance in which we have been able to communicate farther than Marysville. The distance to San Francisco, by the course of the line, is over 800 miles.

MORE SANITARY AID.—The Ladies' Sanitary Aid Society of Vancouver, through W. H. Troup, Esq., yesterday forwarded to Rev. Dr. Bellows $800 more for the benefit of the soldiers. The draft goes on the steamer to-day.

A CIRCUS.—Bills were posted about in various parts of the city yesterday, announcing that "Dan Rice's Circus" would exhibit in this city for three days, beginning with to-day. The company arrived by the steamer, and the tents are pitched near the Express office, on the Gem block.

Stock Jobbing Frauds.—The New York Tribune, of May 2nd, speaking of the recent bogus proclamation, etc, says:

Civilization and commerce have doubtless conferred great blessings on mankind, but they have not tended to make men honest. On the contrary, they have furnished facilities and temptations to novel, ingenious almost infinite, manifestations and permutations of rascality. All villainy resolves itself at last into the one desire and effort to secure the fruits of others' labor without rendering therefor a just and satisfactory equivalent, and while it is certain, despite the poets, that primeval ignorance and barbarism are generally as replete with covetousness, envy, and every sordid, ravenous impulse as the most complex and artificial social condition, it is nevertheless true that the citizen is surrounded and beset by multiform suggestions of roguery which the savage never dreamed of. Attila or Osceola may be greedy, lecherous, vindictive, bloodthirsty, hideous, but no barbarian was ever swayed by the multiplicity of evil influences that contribute to form the character of the civilized stockjobber who "goes in to win!"

Good men doubtless speculate in stocks, and make or lose by their rise or fall, but no bad man ever became good through stock jobbing, and very few good men do or can persistently follow the business without moral deterioration. To make $10,000 to-day, lose $15,000 to-morrow, perhaps make and perhaps lose $20,000 the next day is calculated to tax the coolest and steadiest brain, and "He that makes haste to be rich shall not be innocent," is as true now as it was thirty centuries ago. How many heavy operators in the stock market would hesitate to profit by a false report of victory or defeat, knowing its falsity? and from this to conniving at its circulation, if not its concoction, there is but a step. Blessed is he who never felt the lust for sudden and easily won riches! If a man will game, better do it where he knows how much he risks than at the Stock Board, where he may lose tens of thousands when he fancies he has only played for hundreds.

The blackleg who is caught using marked cards or loaded dice loses caste even with gentlemen "sports," the stock gambler who invents false news, or circulates such knowing its character, is more widely and deeply execrated, as he should be. The blackleg ruins single individuals—not many in all, while the fraudulent stock-jobber wrecks the fortunes of thousands—how many, he neither knows nor cares. If we suppose stock jobbing to have been the sole end of the author of the recent forged proclamation and his confederates, we must believe them willing seriously to injure their imperilled country, as well as thousands of her citizens, merely to fill their own pockets. For the evil influences of such a fraud are illimitable. The rebel General Lee lately announced to his army the surrender of Gen Steele with nine thousand men to Gen Price, at Camden, Arkansas, stating that he had learned the fact from the northern papers! There was not a shadow of truth in the report, and yet we presume some Northern paper must have contained it, for Lee is hardly the man to coin so gross a falsehood. So the story that Burnside's corps had been assailed and cut to pieces by Lee obtained currency through professedly loyal journals though it had not a scintilla of foundation. Bank's army has been destroyed, or nearly so, or on the point of capitulating, repeatedly, within the last two months, if newspaper reports were to be credited. A traitorous Baltimore sheet recently reported that Grant's army had lost 70,000 men in the combats beyond the Rapid Ann, and charged the lie to the Associated Press, which never uttered nor countenanced it. So the sky is incessantly darkened by atrocious and disheartening lies, in the conjoint interest of Stockjobbing and Treason. Is it not high time an example were made of some among their fabricators?

Bierstadt is engaged on his large picture of "Mount Hood in Oregon," which will prove, says the New York Evening Post, when completed, to be his finest work. This great snowy peak, rising from the mountains surrounding it gleams like an immense opal under the sky. The dazzling whiteness of its sun lighted portions, the bluish tints which mark those which lie in shadow, and the roseate hued atmosphere which envelopes its base, passing by imperceptible gradations into the clear and impalpable atmosphere above, are marvellously wrought. Mr Bierstadt intends to finish this picture during the coming summer.

Don't Care for His Blessing.—After the Committee on the Platform of the Cleveland Convention had made its report, says the Bee, a member moved to amend by adding "with the blessing of God." The President put the motion: "all in favor of the blessing of God will say aye"—there were perhaps fifty ayes and when the nays were put, a prolonged response "nay" from three times as many as answered aye. So the motion was lost, and the Convention stands opposed to the blessing of God.

The Cotton Question in Europe.—The London Daily News says the cotton question is becoming one of serious interest, as there is a general disposition to believe that the war in the United States is approaching a final issue, and the restoration of peace will simply end in the re-opening of the greatest cotton market of the world. The News shows that unless the greatest prudence is exercised the sudden influx of an artificially scarce commodity and the consequent heavy fall in prices may prove most disastrous.

New Chemical Agent in Warfare.—Chloride of nitrogen will, it is said, soon be utilized as an implement of war. Its employment would seem likely to put an end to all war. Mr Isham Baggs, an English chemist, in announcing his discovery, proposes to carry up his composition in balloons and drop it from the air in the midst of armies and fortresses. The very mention of this compound, he goes on to say, as a proposed element in modern warfare, may possibly provoke a smile among chemists who know that the most accomplished among their number would scarcely dare to experiment with it in quantities larger than a grain of mustard seed and even then at a respectful distance and under guard at the moment of its detonation. And yet not one of those chemists will be bold enough to deny that with two or three chemically clean carboys of [illegible] the compound present in a city or fortress, however strong, the slightest cuttings of phosphorus or a single drop of olive oil coming in contact with it would in one instant, decide the fate of the place and its inhabitants. Mr Baggs then proceeds to affirm that he has discovered a method of overcoming the contingent difficulties and that he is able to manufacture this deadly material with perfect safety and in any required quantity, and that it can be safely conveyed to its destination.

Petroleum as a Fuel.—In the neighborhood of the Caspian Sea, where petroleum springs are abundant, the inhabitants manufacture fuel by impregnating clay with the combustible fluid; the cakes are afterward burned on an ordinary hearth. The Norwegians have long economized the saw dust of their mills, by incorporating with it a little clay and tar, and molding it into the form of bricks. Of late years, in England, much attention has been given to artificial fuel in many districts, but not with much success owing to the want of a suitable combustible which petroleum is, above all others best adapted to supply. In France, charcoal is prepared from the refuse of the charcoal furnaces, by mixing it with charred peat or spent tar, and then adding tar or pitch. The materials are ground together and subjected to heat in close vessels, to expel volatile gases. From seven to nine gallons of tar are mixed with two hundred weight of charcoal powder.

The New York World's Correspondent Captured.—R. B. Francis, the war correspondent of the New York World, with the Army of the Potomac, was on Sunday captured by the pickets at Tunstall's Station, on the York River Railroad. He was on his way to the White House to mail letters to his paper being under the delusion that Grant had uninterrupted possession of the country between his army and the White House. His letters were taken charge of at General Ransom's office and he himself committed to the Castle. He was quite communicative and expressed himself freely about military matters. He did not seem to think Grant had accomplished anything to brag of thus far.—Richmond Sentinel, May 31st.

A Portland paper states a singular fact in connection with the losses of steamships belonging to the Montreal line. It seems that in every instance the vessel that has taken back to Liverpool the officers of a wrecked steamer of this line has been the next in succession to become a victim.

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation it remained almost useless until Dr Henry Anders, a physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and experiment discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve without a solvent. This considered impossible by the scientific world is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr J. R. Chilton of this city and Prof. Booth U. S. Mint Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals and its use recommended to practitioners (see American Medical Monthly July 8, 1856, page 76)

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms Consumption Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases Rheumatism Neuralgia, Nervous Affections Dyspepsia, Bronchitis etc.

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh strength and color, hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full strong and florid.
